SAFETY ADVICE

ASSEMBLY

Located on the bottom pole of the parasol is a push-pin. The bottom pole connects to the top half of the parasol where you will find a hole for the push-pin to come through. When you first open the canopy it is important to make sure that none of the ribs are crossed. Use the crank handle on the parasol to put the canopy up and down; turn the crank handle clockwise to put the canopy up and anti-clockwise to put the canopy down. The built-in tilt function can be used when the canopy is up; click in the button and tilt the canopy over to the side until the button pops back out.

Do not over-tighten the crank, this will cause excessive stress on the crank cord which could lead to fraying or snapping.

Do not leave the parasol up when not in use or during windy conditions.

This parasol requires a suitable parasol base. If the parasol is being used through a table, we recommend a 15kg weighted base. If the parasol is freestanding, we recommend 25kg or heavier.
